

Nora Benhabiles,

CEA, Manager Business Development, France

E-health: Opportunities and Challenges across Europe

Abstract

Biographical Sketch

Nora Benhabiles, PhD, EMBA, manages the health program in the Carnot CEA List Institute in Saclay (FR). Among former positions in Europe, she was head of the bioinformatics and IT department in a biotech developing drugs for cardiovascular related diseases (FR), Visiting Professor of Biomedicine in the Katholieke Universiteit of Leuven (BE) where she patented a biomarker fingerprint signing sub-populations of high CVD risks, and researcher in homology/threading and artificial intelligence methods applied to proteins in the University of Salzburg (AU).

She is expert for the EU commission (Health, Environment) and for the French National Research Agency (ANR) (chair ANR emergence 2012, co-chair of the PRT-S 2014 and participation in various evaluation committees), member of the CEA technology for health steering committee, member of board of the Silver Valley, Vice President of the ICT and health “interpole Medicen Systematic and Cap-Digital” and, associate editorial board member of BMC Genomics.